

Autism cases and infant exposure to mercury in vaccinations both increased dramatically in the 1990s

Mercury was gradually removed from infant and maternal vaccinations between August 1999 and Nov 2002 (infant) or 2003 (maternal).
 Autism data from California Department of Developmental Services 2004. Reliable data on autism rates in children born after 1998 are not available.

Source: Environmental Working Group